MARY JOYCE: TAKU TO FAIRBANKS, 1,000 MILES BY DOGTEAM

The brave and exciting exploits of "Mary Joyce - Taku to Fairbanks, 1,000 Miles by Dogsled" are described in this book... mostly in her own words. She wrote a manuscript about her trip with her dogteam in 1936. It was never published until now. She was the first white person over a portion of the trail which later became part of the Alcan Highway. Her narrative and descriptions of Alaska's people, dogteams, vast landscapes and dangers encountered on the trail are wrapped in her wry humor and perspectives of the 30's. Mary was a nurse who moved to Alaska to the Taku Lodge in 1930 aboard a yacht, which also carried lavender bathroom fixtures and a cow. She was a pilot, a stewardess, a musher,

What others say about this ebook:

Review 1:

Mary Joyce was an amazing woman who in her early 30's, sets out on a 1,000 mile dog sled trek on largely uncharted terrain - alone. Her entire life was not only cutting edge for a woman but indeed for any human being. And she succeeded famously. Wish I could have met her.

Review 2:

Couldn't put it down, what a brave and wonderful woman would have loved to meet her! I can not imagine the energy for her life

Review 3:

Many women worked to build this country "out of the limelight" so to speak, and as I had cause to visit Taku Lodge this fall, was completely enamoured with the very amazing life of Mary Joyce. What a truly amazing, head strong woman, and I thank God for her and all like her who dared to be non-conformists in a dominately male environment!!!
